

Our wine is the culmination of centuries of our family's dedication to viticulture, respect for nature, attention to detail and an understanding of future challenges.

Our family history has always been central to our work and we still observe the historical names of DeSilva (expression of the soil and old vines) and Amistar (signature of the family and in memory of our Spanish roots). These names sum up the character of our philosophy.

Today, we produce 60% of red wines from our valley vineyards around Lake Caldaro between 224-400 meters above sea level and 40% of white wines from our hillside vineyards between 400-600 meters above sea level.

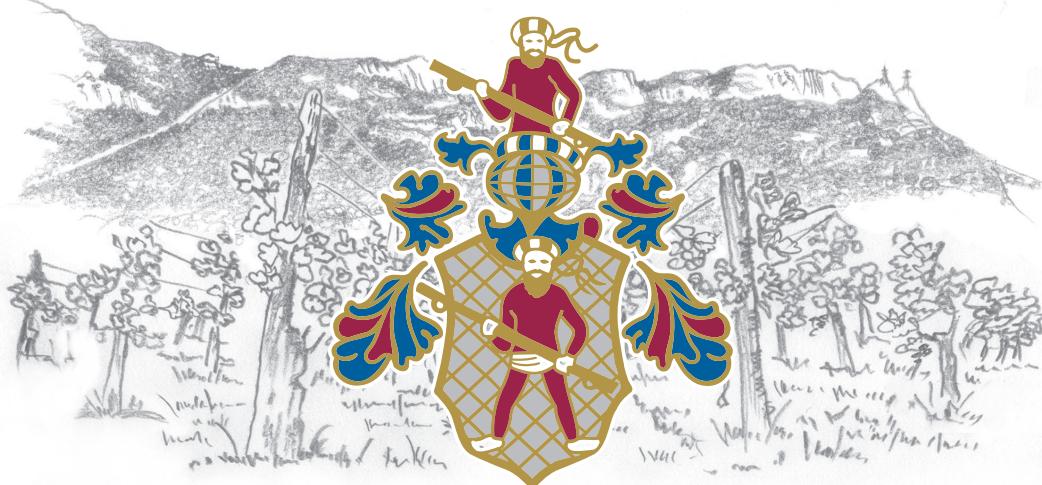

For 10 generations, our family has dedicated itself to this passion for cultivating and making wine in harmony and respect for nature.

The Peter Soelva winery is one of the oldest wine growing businesses in Caldaro/Oltradige.
